FAIR Faithful Answers,
Informed Response

Our mission is to create conditions where faith in Jesus Christ and his gospel can flourish — answering criticisms and providing support for:

- Teachings & doctrines
- Prophetic counsels
- Church leaders
- Public understanding of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

- We invite and answer questions individuals send in to us.
- We maintain an 8,000-page wiki with answers to critical questions.
- We write longer responses to more complex questions, such as an explainer about electroshock aversion therapy at BYU.
- We write responses to current events such as the Under the Banner of Heaven show, the CES letter, and others.
- We provide insights into the Come Follow Me curriculum, approached from a questioner's point of view.
- We host the FAIR conference each year featuring scholars and members of other advocacy groups speaking on topics related to people questioning their faith. Presentations are arranged to appeal to both serious scholars and aspiring scholars.
- We maintain a large YouTube video library of speakers from our conference and other videos of interest.
- We maintain a Facebook page where missionaries can ask difficult questions they are encountering in their work.
- We're social!
 - Twitter @ldsfair
 - Pinterest @LDSFAIR
 - Instagram LDSFAIR
 - Facebook accounts highlighting our content
- We publish a free monthly newsletter which reaches 15,000+ people. (Visit our website to sign up.)
- We publish blog posts and podcasts.

For example, Jennifer Roach is producing videos discussing the differences between evangelical Christianity and latter day Saint Christianity. Jennifer is a convert with the background of being an ordained minister in a protestant church.
- We are developing online classes to teach people how to recognize good and bad content, tailored especially for youth.
